MBA course overview

The MBA is an integrated cross-discipline business management programme. The course is designed to give students from diverse disciplines and backgrounds the opportunity to develop their potential as managers and leaders, to study postgraduate management collaboratively, and to specialise in innovation and leadership management and development.

- The MBA programme is underpinned by the fundamentals of responsible management, ethical and respectful behaviour, and evidence-informed practice
- Embedded within the programme are the principles of lifelong self-development, ethics, responsibility, inclusion, diversity and sustainability. The curriculum will be structured to encompass the development of creativity, citizenship and awareness of service
- This programme is a proactive and direct response to the call for programmes to be adaptable and to prepare students for the future as flexible individuals, capable of coping with changing lives and employment opportunities

MSc - Master of International Business Management with Project Management course overview

The Master of International Business Management with Project Management (MSc) is aimed at individuals who are seeking to develop or further their careers in business management in general, and programme and project management in particular.

Throughout the course, the objective is to develop the critical thinking, decision-making and interpersonal skills that are essential for a thriving career in programme and project management.

What you can expect to gain from the course

- Knowledge of key management theories and practices for programme and project management
- Essential financial, analysis, problem solving and decision-making skills
- Critical insights into your own capabilities in order to shape your personal development
- Simulated experience of running a global business as part of a management team
- An understanding of the potential changes in the business environment that you will experience in the coming years, in order to develop strategies for success
- Insights into the course of global business growth and development, and current cultural differences, to equip you for success in a global business setting

STRUCTURE OF MSc - Master of International Business Management with Project Management

Course modules

Managing complex business problems:

The core modules are designed to facilitate an understanding of real-world business needs and how they can be managed. Students will gain an understanding of the need to set goals, evaluate options and make effective decisions using imperfect information, providing a foundation for the deeper study of business in the other modules.

Data-driven decision-making:

A key element of the course is its emphasis on making sense of the current volatile, uncertain, complex and ambiguous world combined with applying the tools, techniques and thought processes needed to compete globally. This would include complex problem-solving, critical thinking, creativity and people management.

Digital literacy:

The importance of understanding and managing digital technology is a theme throughout the programme. Successful businesses will need to navigate effectively through the current and emerging waves of technology disruption and global geo-political tensions whilst changing and innovating in response to competitive and environmental pressures.

The modules listed below are for the academic year 2021/22.

7 Modules – Single entry with 3 exit qualifications.

Total credit points required for qualification: 180.

One course - Three exit qualifications:

IBPM entry requirements

Our aim is to recruit students with ambition and drive, from varied academic and professional backgrounds. Students may not have extensive business management experience, but they will bring their curiosity, enthusiasm for the subject, and valuable personal experience of business products and services.

Students are required to have completed the following:

- A minimum of a 2:2 degree from the UK or recognised international university or another equivalent international qualification
- An acceptable professional qualification equivalent such as the CMI, CIM, CIMA, at Level 6 or above

Following the review of applications, candidates may be required to attend a selection interview.

Additional documents Full CV (work experience, education, skills)

Work experience

When submitting a full CV, list your most recent position first, continuing in reverse chronological order. You should include your name, location, website and dates of your employment for each company you have worked for, and highlight your responsibilities and achievements in each role.

Education

In reverse chronological order, provide brief details of your academic and professional qualifications along with the grades you achieved.

Skills

Outline the skills you have gained as part of your prior education or work experience. E.g. include every IT package or programme you've got experience of using, as well as any foreign language skills. Skills such as communication and project management are harder to substantiate and should be backed up with examples.

English language requirements

To study a degree with London Met Online, students must be able to demonstrate proficiency in the English language. If a student is a non-native user of English, they must provide one of the following:

- Evidence that they have been instructed and assessed predominantly in English
- IELTS 6.5 overall (or above) with no less than 6.0 in any subcomponent
- For more information about English qualifications, please see our English language requirements on the London Metropolitan University website.
